Which security system will keep your gated community safer?

A. Telephone entry system

B. Security guard, with clipboard

C. Envera remote access management system, with central station monitoring

Take control and verify every gate transaction with Envera.

Most security guards do their best to manage gate access at private communities. Trouble is, they're only human. Only the Envera system can do more, giving residents and property managers a complete, web-accessible system for managing guests, and central station monitoring to verify every gate transaction without live security guards.

Use the Envera system to replace live guards full-time, or just on the night shift.

Verify every gate transaction. Keep your community safer with Envera.
